

Greek fleet shelled the town without succeeding in reducing it. The town has a population of about 7,000, mainly Albanians and Greeks. Its fortifications are of ancient pattern, consisting of three forts. The harbor is navigable for warships of the second class, but is dangerous of approach because of wide sand spits sweeping across the front.

It is a weekly port of call for steamers of the Austrian-Lloyd line. The town has eleven churches and two mosques. A few miles beyond the walls of the town lie the interesting ruins of the Nicropolis, founded by Augustus in commemoration of the battle of Actium.

Duke of Abruzzi, Naval Hero, Sinks Warship; Blockades Port.

ROME, Sept. 29.—The Duke of the Abruzzi reported to the Government today that he had established a blockade of the Turkish port of Prevesa yesterday. "Two torpedo boats attempted to escape," he telegraphs. "We engaged one, which stranded after catching fire. We pursued the other, which returned to Prevesa."

The war craft referred to by the Duke of the Abruzzi appear to have been escorts of the two transports beached in the same vicinity yesterday.

Powers Ready to Intervene; Fear a Continental War.

BERLIN, Sept. 29.—Agreement between Germany, Austria, England, France and Russia to intervene for a termination of Turkish-Italian troubles is almost momentarily imminent, according to a high official in the foreign office here today. "The powers are alarmed by indications that instead of remaining a purely naval affair, the Turkish-Italian difficulty may become a continental struggle."

There is an impression in diplomatic circles that the war will be of short duration. The big game profess to have information that it is now virtually over. The truth of this depends upon the assumption that Turkey will submit, after a show of opposition, to the loss of Tripoli, and will not embark upon a programme of reprisals against Italian subjects and Italian commerce. Italy plans, it is learned authoritatively, to reopen negotiations with Turkey as soon as the occupation of Tripoli is assured, counting on reported orders from Constantinople to the local authorities at Tripoli not to resist the landing, and using German channels of communication with the enemy. If there is no opposition to her programme, Italy will content herself in Tripoli with a status similar to that of England in Egypt. Otherwise, the annexation of Tripoli will follow.

Rigorous measures against Turkish ports are contemplated if the Turks execute their threat to expel Italians and seize their property in Turkey, although the possibility of the powers intervening against a bombardment and seizure of ports in European and Asiatic Turkey is admitted.

It was stated at the Foreign Office this afternoon that there was every hope of success in confining the hostilities to Italy and Turkey, preventing an outbreak in the Balkans. The danger point is Crete. The report from Vienna that Turkey had demanded that Greece proclaim her disinterestedness in the island is believed at the German Foreign Office to be untrue, but Athens understands that any attempt to seize this opportunity to raise the Cretan question would be the signal for a Turkish mobilization in Thessaly.

Turks Clash With Greeks In Frontier Fight for Crete.

BEGRAD, Serbia, Sept. 29.—Fighting in progress to-day on the Greek-Turkish frontier. It is believed to be no more than mere skirmishing as yet, but everything indicates that it is merely preliminary to a general Greek-Turkish campaign.

It was the Turks who took the aggressive against Greece, under the impression that the latter would probably attempt to annex Crete under cover of the Turkish-Italian war. Turkish troops began the occupation of the Greek province of Thessaly yesterday. Greece responded by despatching a force of its own to resist them and hostilities followed.

Besides their objection to the loss of Crete, the Turks were actuated in assuming the aggressive against Greece by the higher diplomatic motive of frightening Europe by means of a widespread Balkan outbreak into interfering with the Italian grab of Tripoli. The danger of such an outbreak is, in fact, great. Not only are Turkey and Greece already embroiled, but Bulgaria is expected to seize Macedonia from the Turks the moment it is convinced that the latter are too busy with other troubles to resist the Macedonian advance. The Balkan situation is showing signs of restlessness at Turkish rule, Montenegro has long been looking for an opportunity to add Nibohia, Albania, to King Nicholas's territories and the Southern Albanians are reported on the eve of another insurrection against Turkey.

A general commotion of this kind will inevitably ensue if Turkish-Italian hostilities go much farther. The commotion will mean a shifting of southeastern European frontiers everywhere. It is in the epidemic of grabbing on the part of the greater powers which will surely follow that there lies the danger of a general European crisis.

Turkey, knows that the powers are afraid of no great a struggle and will use this fear as a weapon to club the powers into coming to its assistance against Italy.

Italy Explains War Move; Says Campaign Will Be Short

BERLIN, Sept. 29.—Italy today sent a circular note to the Powers explaining her reasons for the action against Turkey, expressing the hope that the steps taken will be confined to the occupation of Tripoli, that the hostilities will be of short duration, and that negotiations to fix the status of Tripoli will be begun soon. Italy, it is stated, will endeavor to localize the hostilities.

The note closed with the assurance that the steps taken are in the interests of humanity and civilization, and that no effort will be spared to protect the subjects of other nations in Tripoli.

RACING DOOMED, NO CHANCE FOR GITTENS BILL

Backers of the Measure Admit They Have Not the Votes to Win in Albany.

ALBANY, Sept. 29.—The doom of racing in New York State, an event with far-reaching effect throughout the country, was pronounced this afternoon by its own friends.

The backers of the Gittens bill, by which it was hoped to restore the thoroughbred to its former high estate in this commonwealth, admitted they cannot muster the votes necessary to secure a reconsideration of the measure, which was defeated at the last session.

PRISONER ADMITS HE HELPED ROB A WOMAN.

Arrested as One of Five Who Took $500 in Money and Valuables.

John Grusack of No. 432 Pearl street was arrested this afternoon at Pearl street and Park Row on the charge of robbing Mrs. Annie Olivik of No. 215 East Third street, of $500 in money and valuables. Grusack, according to the detective, admits he was one of several men involved in the Olivik case. When searched he had a revolver, a .38-caliber, a bottle of knock-out drops and an electric flash light.

Mrs. Olivik told the police she and her husband had intended moving West. They decided they could sell their furniture to the best advantage to a neighbor, and Sept. 4 she went to No. 221 East Third street to offer the property. When she reached the house she found five men drinking. They offered her beer and when she declined and started away two of them seized her and threw her into a bedroom. They tore from her neck a bag containing two gold watches, a chain and $38 in money.

Detectives from Union Market station arrested three men who could not be identified. This afternoon they picked up Grusack. They have not yet found the woman for a positive identification of him.

WOMAN'S DREAM FINDS MISSING MAN IN PAUPER'S GRAVE

Off-Repeated Vision to Sister-in-Law Leads to Discovery of Charles Edmonds's Fate.

WAS KILLED BY TRAIN.

But No One Identified Body and Brothers Supposed He Had Gone on Journey.

A woman's dream, which had such a pronounced effect upon her that she was able to arouse the interest of three brothers of Charles Edmonds of Harrison, N. J., who disappeared Sept. 17, resulted today in the exhumation of Edmonds's body from a pauper's grave at East Rutherford, and its reinterment with Christian rites at Harrison. The woman is Edmonds's sister-in-law, the wife of Alexander Edmonds of Carteret, N. J.

Charles Edmonds was employed in a shipyard in Harrison, Sept. 17, if he went with his brothers, John and Alfred, also employed in Harrison, to Carteret by motorboat on a visit to Alexander. Soon after the three brothers reached Carteret Charles disappeared.

The young man had been talking of striking out and getting another job, and all his brothers supposed he had suddenly made up his mind to travel. They supposed they would hear from him when he got a job and settled down.

But Mrs. Alexander Edmonds had a premonition that her brother-in-law was dead. This premonition grew to a certainty when she dreamed on several different occasions that she saw his body being lowered into a grave. The body was in a plain pine box.

Her insistence that Charles was dead finally aroused her husband and the Harrison brothers of the missing man to a systematic search. They learned the date of the disappearance of Sept. 17, an unidentified man had been struck by a Pennsylvania train at East Rutherford and instantly killed. The body was buried in a pauper's grave Sept. 20.

Alexander Edmonds went to East Rutherford and was shown the clothing of the dead man. He identified it as the apparel his brother wore on the day of his disappearance. The Harrison brothers were summoned and in their presence the body was brought to light. It was indeed the remains of Charles Edmonds.

"Kicks are to be expected at this stage of the game," said Hank. "But I have no feelings against the players on that account. You know I have been in the umpiring business a long time and I have heard that kind of talk before."

The Giants put over a hotmaker at the jump and took a lead of two runs in the first inning. Devore began it by beating out a hit to the infield and Doyle followed with a long smash into the right field bleachers for a home run that scored them both. Snodgrass drew a pass and went to second on Murray's sacrifice, but McKee and Herzog both died on easy grounders to the shortstop and retired the side.

After Sheikard had died on a long fly to Snodgrass, Schulte faced a pretty single into right, but he was left stranded on the bag as Tucker popped out to Doyle and Ames tumbled to Zimmerman.

The Giants lost a good opportunity in the second when Sales made a wonderful play on a bunt. Fletcher had walked and Chief Meyers drove a single into left which advanced him to second. Ames then rolled a perfect bunt toward first but Sales rushed in, picked up the ball and shot Fletcher out at third. Devore forced Ames and Doyle retired the side on a high fly to Hoffman.

After Ames had struck out J. Doyle and Sales in the Cubs' half, he gave his first base on balls, walking Hoffman. Archer struck a grounder toward second, but the ball struck Hoffman on the leg and he was out.

After Snodgrass had struck out in the third Murray singled into right, but McKee also struck out and Murray died stealing second as the awning at the last one.

Brown struck out as a starter for the Cubs in the ninth. Snodgrass hit a single into right, but he was left stranded on the bag as Tucker popped out to Doyle and Ames tumbled to Zimmerman.

The strike will not affect the train schedules, according to C. H. Markham, President of the Illinois Central. The clerks' strike on the Illinois Central and Yazoo and Mississippi in the South spread to the freight handlers in New Orleans.

The Georgia and Florida Railroad's freemen are out because of the refusal of the railroad to grant a wage increase and not a train has been operated into or out of Augusta on that road since yesterday morning. On the Missouri, Kansas and Texas union men say more than 2,000 men are out.

Farmers May Sell Direct. At a meeting of the Producers' and Consumers' League, Mayor Gaynor has agreed to hold a hearing on Oct. 10 at 11 o'clock on the plans of the League, which embraced a proposition for designating a number of places in the city where farmers may sell direct to retailers and consumers.

to play in a post-season series in case the Giants win the pennant.

Ed Walsh, the famous spit ball thrower of the American League, occupied a seat in the press box and a grateful glance at the proceedings. He says a series between the Giants and the Athletics would be too close to risk a bet. He is a little inclined to favor the Athletics on account of their hitting, but he says a man could be foolish to lay odds on the night either way.

Just before the game Umpire Hank O'Day had a talk with the New York newspaper men and seemed to be in a pleasant frame of mind. He says all the talk about him being sore on the Giants is tommy rot.

"Kicks are to be expected at this stage of the game," said Hank. "But I have no feelings against the players on that account. You know I have been in the umpiring business a long time and I have heard that kind of talk before."

MOTHER NEVER COMES BACK FOR BABY IN GRAND CENTRAL.

White Plains Woman Holds Child Three Hours, Then Turns It Over to Police.

Miss Emma Roberts of No. 112 East Seventeenth street, stood in line at the Grand Central station to buy two tickets for White Plains. When she got the tickets she noticed a well-dressed young woman in deep mourning standing near her.

In one arm the woman in black carried a pretty baby boy, all dressed in snowy white. In the other hand the woman held two suit cases.

"Will you mind my baby until I can check these suit cases?" asked the woman.

"Certainly," replied Miss Roberts. She sat on a bench and played with the baby for three hours and the woman in black did not return. Then she turned the baby over to the police, who took it to the Fifty-first street station. It was sent to Bellevue and Detective Harbois is trying to find the mother.

P. M.—The maddest cop in New York is Faddy Ryan, who was forced to carry the baby to the hospital. If you don't believe it, ask him.

MY FACE WAS ALL BROKEN OUT

And So Dileful! Eruption Started with a Pimple, Came in Blotches, Causing Great Pain. Spread Rapidly. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment, Blotches Disappeared.

"My trouble started with a pimple on my nose, which I picked, and it rapidly spread all over my face, the eruptions coming in blotches, and causing great pain and discomfort. My face was all broken out, and I was dreadfully embarrassed. I was despondent for six months without any relief. Then I saw the Cuticura Soap and Ointment advertisement, so I thought I would try them, which I did. After using the Cuticura Soap and one box of the wonderful Cuticura Ointment, every one of the eruptions disappeared, and I was completely cured through the use of the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I take great pleasure in recommending them to all my friends." (Signed) Miss Nellie Lonsgan, 418 Ninth Ave., New York City, Jan. 20, 1911.

For more than a generation warm baths with Cuticura Soap and gentle applications of Cuticura Ointment have effected the speediest and most economical treatment for scurrying, disgusting eruptions of the skin and scalp of infants, children and adults. Although sold by druggists and dealers throughout the world, a large sample of the skin and scalp, will be sent free, on application to Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Dept. 20A, Boston, Mass.

TAX BOOKS OPEN MONDAY.

The tax books, showing assessments on real and personal property, will be opened for public inspection in the office of the Tax Department in the City of New York, on Monday, Sept. 30, at 10 o'clock A. M. The books have been opened from January 1 to April 1. The departure is made in accordance with a new law passed by the present Legislature.

Owners who think their real estate assessments too high have until Nov. 1 to have corrections made, and persons who desire to swear off personal taxes have until Dec. 1 to do so.

President Purdy of the Tax Department says there is no material change in the assessments from last January and very few corrections will likely be made. Taxes for 1911 are payable Monday. There is no rebate this year for prompt payment, but a penalty of 1 per cent is added on all taxes unpaid after Nov. 1, including water rates.
